TRIFLING WITH YOUR HEALTH

Is like Playing with a loaded Gun. If you have Kidney Trouble attend to it at once.

It is easy to tell whether your Kidneys or bladder are diseased. Take a bottle of glass tumbler and fill it with urine. If there is a sediment—a powder-like substance—after standing a day or two, it is pale or discolored, ropy or stringy, there is something wrong with the Kidneys. Other sure signs of disease are a desire to urinate often, pain in the back, or if your urine stains linen.

There is no question that Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the best and surest medicine in the world for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Chronic Constipation, and the sickness peculiar to women. It quickly relieves and cures inability to hold urine and the necessity of getting up a number of times during the night, and puts an end to the scalding pain when passing urine.

The Rev. Henry P. Miller, pastor Baptist Church, Spartenburg, S. C., writes:

"For eleven years I suffered with kidney, liver and heart troubles, swimming in the head, dull headache and numbness of the limbs. Several physicians prescribed for me and I took different medicines, but none of them did me any good. I then began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, and in about two weeks was entirely well."

All druggists sell Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy in the New 50 Cent bottle and the regular $1.00 size bottles.

Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. 31-35

Day, West Paris, Me. 30-4pt

Now is the Time
We left Locke's Mills at 10.35. The weather was cool and there was very little dust. As we approach Bethel the mountains are higher and we get glimpses of the White Mountain range. We pass West Bethel, and in the distance we see some beautiful cottages upon our left, which we are told are occupied by families from Massachusetts and New York. We cross the Peabody river, a small stream but very romantic. We reach Gorham, which seems quite a city. It has improved since our last visit. We push on to Berlin Falls, arriving a few minutes before 12. We ascertain our train was 3 or 4 minutes late. We besigue a carriage man and inform him we wish to go to the B. & M. station for the 12 o'clock train. After we are half way there he asks if it was the 12 o'clock we desire and we reply, "Certainly." He says "We're too late." We behold the train just leaving the station as we come in sight. We drive to the station and find another train leaves 13 hours later. This makes us three hours late at our destination. As our friends are to meet us, we take the telephone station and telegraph them our mishap.

At 1.45 we board the train for Whitefield. We have passed Mt. Washington, of which we had a fine view as the mountain hems us in. The train does not move as fast as the earlier one but the country is so beautiful we are content to "snail" along and view the grand mountain peaks. We pass Jefferson and get a fine view of old Mt. Jefferson with its hotels and boarding houses at its base. We pass Hazen Junction, where people change for Lancaster, Groveton, etc. We arrived at Whitefield at 3.45.

Here we must wait two hours for a train to St. Johnsbury. Whitefield seems to be a very thriving place with several manufacturing. From a hill we have a fine view of Mt. Washington. There are several good hotels here and we judge many city people. A paper is published called "The White Mt. Review." The Fiske House seems well managed and we get a good supper and take carriage for B. & M. station, where we take R. R. for St. Johnsbury.

As we near Vermont we find more verdure. We lose sight of the granite and find mountains covered with grass and foliage. Various brooks and ponds render the scenery most picturesque. We arrive at St. Johnsbury at 6.55. This seems a beautiful place built on the hills and everything most thriving. The Fairbanks family have done much for this place. The church bells are ringing for prayer meeting. We get a glimpse of several church spires. We find we must change cars here and wait one hour for a train to Greensboro. If you ever appreciate getting located for a half hour's rest and quiet, it is when you are traveling, catching trains and not catching them, the latter being the most trying. Our ride now is most beautiful. It seems as if we were getting higher and higher. We look down on the brooks and pond at the foot of the mountains.

We pass Danville and Danville pond, which seems quite extensive. A steamer is sailing along, which we are told makes regular trips. Then we pass Concord, North Concord and West Concord. Here a church had been struck by lightning two years before. The building has been put in fine repair. We pass country farmhouses on the hills which have an air of prosperity as all have large barns. Our train is mixed, we are next to the smoker, then three vacant cars are being taken up to transport people to the circus the next day.

We arrive at 9.52 at Greensboro, where our friends meet us. Yours, A. M. ELIOT.

That tired feeling is a burden you need not carry. A good Sarsaparilla will rid you of it and renew your courage.

Worse Than a Nuisance.
About the greatest nuisance to a farmer, after the gunner who at certain seasons of the year goes tramping all over his fields, shooting his quail, woodcock and rabbits, is the student who comes down from the city and calls himself a "collector." He must have plants and flowers for his herbarium; fishes, tadpoles and aquatic plants for his aquarium; must shoot every bird he sees to send to a taxidermist to be stuffed; must have every bird's egg he can find for a collection, and without leave or license from any one.

A sturdy old farmer once met one of these collectors on his pear tree after some thrushes' eggs, while the poor birds were sitting round and round the tree in great distress.

"How? What are you doing there?" exclaimed the wrathful farmer.

"Only getting a few eggs for my collection," was the suave reply.

"Who said you could have them?" roared the farmer.

"I beg your pardon," said the city man. "I didn't suppose you'd care."

"They're my birds and on my property, and them thrashers have built right in that tree spot so I can't get them. Might as well come and tear me out of my house and be done with it."

"I didn't mean any offence," "What right have you to come on my farm making such collections? Suppose when I went to the city I'd go to your office or place of business and gather up some of your papers or valuables for my collection; what would you think of me?"

"I thought birds and plants were common property."

"Yes, that is what all you city folks think. You think everything in the country is free when every foot is owned by somebody, and somebodies in the country have as much right to what they own as city people have right to what they own."

"I am very sorry, sir. I never looked at it in that way. I'll put the eggs back by the birds as much as I can. They are friends to me so I will let them go. I should think you city folks would be taught in church and Sunday school the respect the Bible has laid down for birds."

Home Bound.

BY ANNIE S. MARSH.

There's a place—I don't mind telling—That sits and lets my heart a-swalling—As I sit and the city's steel brick walls, Rising early to keep time To the whistle and the whistle That in chorus sound "to work" their change-less call.

There's a hill the hills are calling To the silvery waters falling; Dressed their best in nature's holiday attire, And the messages and refrain But repeat the self-same strain Of the coming home of daughter, son and sire.

I am just a trifle weary, I confess a little tired, Every day I walk the corridors and domes, And I give you all the good I am going to pack my grip And make tracks for that one place that's always "Home."

I can see glad faces smiling, All the long old years beguiling, When, in memory, I find myself once more Underneath the sheltering roof, That kept all our joys and hopes as open door, Ah, the hills and flocks and fields And the friends I loved so dearly.

That demanded cellar, barn and house to store, And, albeit, though with sighing, I still smell the doughnuts cooking, Ere I cross the threshold of the kitchen door. There, the best old flower garden, (Always I would have it so,) When its artificial counterfeits I see, Brings a chancel's sweet elation, And their scent intoxicates my memory.

It is a land of delights, Whence these expectations bright come, And I'm going to this land of which I speak; I am going to pack my grip And make tracks for home this blessed "Old Home Week."

Written for the Advertiser.

Bargain Day.
Come, John, hitch up old Billy bay And drive me into town: They're selling cheap the papers say, I think I'll buy a cow. Fix up the very best you know—Remember while I'm here!

For every one is sure to go, I've sold fresh eggs and butter, too; To count up quite a lot, I think I'll try to make it do. But John, I think you'd better look—But John, I think you'd better look—To see if you've got the pocket book, Because 'tis bargain day.

The sheets are mended, I've mended the old coat, mended, There's a hole in every stocking, All my dresses soil and fray, Gloves and ribbons getting shocking. While I wait for bargain day, I'll use the worn out things no more. But I'll buy things fresh and new, When I have reached the country store. And looked the bargains through, Now I'll fix up my old coat, too. It certainly will pay.

For farmers from the east and west, You'll meet on bargain day. Should "and acquaintance" fade away Old friends may meet on bargain day. And talk of days of yore. The best of times, great and small, From near and far away. With one consent they gather all When it is bargain day. South Paris, Me. JULIA E. ABBOTT.

Aspen Lake.
Greensboro, Vt., July 15, 1902.

One of our friends through the country in this beautiful season and no one can congratulate himself on the arrival of summer. Come with me for a moment and I will tell you all about my trip to this beautiful place. Take your map, if you please, and find the location of Greensboro, then look for Andover. You will notice one thing, that these places are situated about the same as to north latitude.

Starting from Andover we travel by carriage to Hanover village, where we board the stage for Locke's Mills, riding through a beautiful valley of the Androscoggin, mountains on all sides. We leave the Androscoggin at East Bethel and traverse a country having level roads and pretty farmhouses, neatly painted.

We look for changes as 20 years have elapsed since we traveled this way. We look for the old road to Bird's Hill, where years ago we taught school. The road has been fenced across and we are looking for the stage for Locke's Mills, riding through a beautiful valley of the Androscoggin, mountains on all sides. We leave the Androscoggin at East Bethel and traverse a country having level roads and pretty farmhouses, neatly painted.

Crop Prospects.
The Maine Farmer presents the most important crop return of the year, coming at a time when public interest is directed to the crop conditions, with a realization that on the success of the farmer rests the life of the town and city. These returns, of which the following is a summary, coming from all sections of the State, present the situation from every county.

The prevailing cool weather with superabundance of moisture has so changed the crop conditions in Maine that the outlook for certain staple products that men are to-day asking the information regarding the situation.

Corn is at least two weeks late. An average crop cannot be expected under prevailing conditions, even though the acreage is materially increased. In many sections the seed failed to come up owing to the heavy rains.

Hay is now fairly begun but the rainy and cloudy weather makes it uncertain when it will be finished. A great crop will be harvested. Clover is abundant in many portions of the State. The long rains have, it is feared, injured the feeding value as compared with former years.

Grain looks well, though rather late, the increased acreage sending the crop prospects above the average. Potatoes are late, and on cold soil not promising, acreage large, outlook not up to the average. No disease reported. Beans—not up to average, very backward.

Fruit.—The apple crop of Maine will be fair but not large. The Baldwin not setting as full as usual. Small fruits, especially strawberries, suffered in most sections from winter-killing. The low bush blueberries were nearly ruined by the late frost in the spring, but the high and half-high are yielding an abundant crop in most places.

Pasturage is good all over the State and stock is making rapid growth. Stock.—From nearly every section comes the good word that dairy cows, chiefly Jerseys, Guineys and Holsteins are increasing and the business growing. There is the sure evidence that there is a substantial increase of beef breeds, especially the Shorthorns, and more calves being raised than for the past quarter of a century. In this preparation for future Maine, farmers find the surest evidence of enduring prosperity.

Squirrels Loop the Loop.
Attraction on Main Street, Norway.

Diavolo, doing his hair-raising stunt of looping the loop on a bicycle; Claque-vall, with his act of juggling pieces of household furniture, and the celebrated Kaufman family playing baseball with sixteen-pound cannon shots never have or never will attract the attention that the happy family of three squirrels do in their cage at the front of Simson Harrison's store on Main street. The squirrels, from the time when they awake at four o'clock in the morning until tired from their exertions at night, they perform gymnastic stunts in the big wire apartment, especially constructed for them, to the education of the young and the keen enjoyment of the old. They were found with their mother, who later took back to the woods, by Dr. Frank Hayden on the shore of the lake about the middle of May. Then they were comfortably housed in the top of an old tree, with a nest made soft by dead leaves and dried grass.

After a game battle by the mother, she surrendered herself and offspring to Dr. Hayden, who transported them to a cigar box and started for town. They were a burden to him, and he presented them to Mr. Harrison, who has since looked after their welfare and proven the mother became dissatisfied with life in the city, and when her young had gained the way of eye-opening she gnawed a hole in the wooden box in which they lived, and went away. Ground beechnuts, matted milk and crushed peanuts formed the menu of the squirrels during their days of infancy and teaching, but now their bill of fare is made up largely of corn on the cob, acorns and nuts. In part payment for the benevolence of their friends, the squirrels go through a sort of endless chain of runs and jumps, moving sometimes so fast that it is hardly possible to follow their movements.

One of the little fellows has a back-handed somersault such as the clown we laugh at in the circus goes through after he falls from the horizontal bar. Another leaps from one corner of the cage diagonally across the box to the opposite corner and back to the starting-point without a stop and barely touching the floor of the cage in the act. The favorite trick of the trio is a leap over the bar which reaches across the cage, and a backward dive underneath with the body level with the floor.

Occasionally, tiring of these mild forms of amusement, one will make a dive for the side of the cage and turning without a stop dart through a small hole in the side of a cream of tartar box, out through the top and off to the horizontal bar. Swinging from the bar by means of the front paws and tail, and then dropping through the hole in the box and another act that is frequently put in by the actors as a sort of diversion from the endless chain on the loop the loop.

The distance from one end of the box to the other, over the route followed by the squirrels, is thirty-six inches. Mr. Harrison says they keep the race up for ten hours in the day at the rate of seventy-five trips an hour, which, if a cyclometer was attached to one of them, would give him about 45,000 trips a day. At that rate he could get in Manila before an army transport, and starting now would arrive in London two days before the coronation of King Edward. In three months he could make a complete tour of the world and be pretty near at the finish of his second trip back home, provided he didn't get laid up with rheumatism or a stiffness of the joints from overwork.

[Communication.]
He Says Maliciously False.

EDITOR OF ADVERTISER, NORWAY, ME.
We see in your issue of July 25th, a serious charge against Edgar L. Flint made by two correspondents from this part of the county.

The first that of "desertion" he has fully and we believe truly answered in advertisement of above date and there is no doubt that all ex-soldiers who vote the Republican ticket will support him, as the unanimous choice for sheriff at their convention.

The other charges are maliciously false. He has been deputy sheriff here eight years, has faithfully and truly performed all the duties of that office and is a good citizen and townsman.
We have known him many years and believe him above throwing "mud" at one of the other parties for personal spite.
A DEMOCRAT.

EAST HIRAM.

Hiram W. C. T. will meet this week Friday at M. E. church.
Rev. A. F. Hinkley delivered his temperance lecture—Drifting to a good-sized audience at the M. E. church last Tuesday evening. He is an able speaker and is greatly aided by his stereopticon illustrations, many of which were made especially for him.

Waterford in Summer Attire.

Waterford once more resumes its summer gaiety and as ever draws to its annual visitors, and the cry has been for a long time, no rooms. When will it be otherwise? Some have thought that when the "old patrons" passed on that possibly the younger generation of "vacationists" might alter scenes, but such is not the case, for every year brings new blood, new enthusiasm, "They do tell their friends," and for real solid enjoyment where can it be duplicated? Such a clear well kept, well shaded place, and intelligent, hospitable, quiet people to cater for them.

Among the first arrivals were Mr. and Mrs. E. Porter, Lakewood, N. J., and son, George Wyman Porter, Auburn, Mass., to occupy the Porter house, the latter part of May, for their sixth season, and about the first of July Mrs. C. K. Munroe, daughter, Mrs. Flagg and her daughter Emilie from Cambridge, Mass. Mrs. Munroe is the only sister of late Capt. H. Kimball, who was the founder of that famous winter resort, Lakewood, N. J. Mr. and Mrs. Lithgo of Providence, R. I., spent about six weeks at the Lake House with mine, host and hostess, the Dudleys.

Soon after Mr. Fanning and daughter from Providence came for their third or fourth season. Later on a cousin joined them. Soon after Mr. Emery, his mother, Mrs. Chas. Harlow, his sister, Mrs. Huntington, and their boys, came for the full season, and were gladly welcomed. Mr. Emery is a Waterford boy who "struck" State St., Boston, and enjoys his old scenes as well as ever. Has his weather eye out for fine building spots, and was the first to see the new hotel. Mr. Hyatt Brewer (always welcomed) with Mrs. Brewer, Mrs. Jolley, Miss White and two nephews, the Masters Brandon, from Thomaston, Ga., Mr. Taylor, son Harry, daughter Jessie and a number of friends from New York spent a week flying for black bass, etc. A little later Mrs. Harrington, sister of Mr. Taylor, her 20th visit here, with her son Jim who brought a canoe of his and his brother's handwork, and a niece of Mrs. H. Miss Houghton, Dr. C. O. Gordon, wife, son and daughter of Brooklyn, N. Y., old and valued patrons of the Lake House, also Dr. Ellison Hillyer, wife and son, came, and were always welcomed, brought a handsome St. Lawrence skiff. The doctor is a great waterman as well as base ball enthusiast, and while not a large man is an all round good fellow.

Mr. Bucknam, a lawyer from Boston, young and frisky, with the ball and bat, a friend of the Emerys (and everybody else) and welcomed by the B. B. enthusiasts was welcomed.
Dudley, with his sleeves rolled up and a determined look, Mrs. Dudley, always with a smile, and son Grey are doing their level best to cheer their old patrons. Their hours are long, but night finds them with a smile and ready for nature's sweet slumber, sleep, and up before the sun (late).

Mrs. Knight's house has been full, and many have been the reports, no rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Parker came so as to be here the fourth, he returning soon after leaving his daughter and the young Toby, everybody's friend, for the summer. Mr. P. bought the first cottage lot and will next season build near the ice house, The Pioneer, and without doubt soon to be followed by others.
Mr. and Mrs. Upham and two daughters from Quincy, Ill., came soon after for the season. A Mrs. McIntire from spent a number of pleasant weeks with the Parkers and says oh, certainly she'll come again.

Edmund Bidwell from Springfield, Mass., a Harvard law student, is making his fourth or fifth visit. He and Geo. W. Porter have just completed a very neat and tasty camp on "Rocky Point" and had their opening Saturday evening with about twenty guests, and so well arranged that all were enthusiastic over Camp Rocky Point. The flag was raised as near as we could guess at the stranger Sunset with a salute and cheers. The ice cream, sherbet, and waffles, cheese crackers, eggs, olives, cakes, coffee etc., were much enjoyed. The grounds were prettily decorated with about fifty Chinese lanterns. Some lettered in colors, "Rocky Point," made a pleasing effect. This being the first camp on the lake may stimulate others to go and do likewise.

Mrs. Callamore and son Loney came the first of the month to their cottage and are always welcomed. They help much to make the season a pleasant one. Mrs. Bertha Adams, three children and maid from Orange, N. J., came for the season. Later on Mrs. Calvin Wheeler, mother of Mrs. Adams, from Chatham, N. J. Mrs. W. is a daughter of the late John E. Sanderson, and never misses a chance to visit her old home scenes.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis and daughter from Orange, N. J., are at Mrs. Plummer's for their second visit and will come again.
Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hogan of Brooklyn spend some time here their annual from away back, will come again later, old patrons of Mrs. Atterton. Dr. Cornish, also at Mrs. Atterton's, says that Waterford is all right.

Dr. and Mrs. Gibbons and daughter are at Mrs. Wilkins' for their 12th or 13th season. Mrs. W.'s cry has been, no rooms.
C. O. Godwin has cried no rooms, every one occupied by relatives. He says they don't pay much but he likes to have them with him as it gives him occupation looking for supplies, and then they live so much better.

C. D. Morse sold his store to L. R. Rounds & Co. and has bought the Lottie Stone house and will entertain a few boarders including the new doctor and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Coburn. As Mr. Morse is the official undertaker they make a happy combination. Whether they are in partnership or not no one knows. Since the doctor came no one has had occasion for an undertaker, so all must wait and see whose turn comes next.
Our much esteemed pastor, T. C. Perry, has been quite ill with pneumonia for number of weeks, but is improving slowly, and if good wishes come true he will be out again.
Dr. Gibbons, who came for a complete rest, has very kindly filled the pulpit with pleasure to himself and the people.
The cowbells have been swathed so far much to the comfort of the late sleepers and a considerable one.

There is great running for boats, not enough to around. No lively nearer than Harrison and Bridgton. Ping pong, croquet, base ball, fishing, tramping, swimming, tennis, etc., help amuse.

Al Matz & Co. appear Wednesday evening. Ice cream sold at vestry once a week and all sold out.

Mrs. S. W. Knight handles the library of 1200 to 1500 volumes well patronized, as well as her store, with her usual smiling and accommodating manner, supplies many souvenirs, photo, Balsam pillows. Mr. and Mrs. Wish, Portland, (Eastern Argus) came Saturday night, for their annual visit, and if the sun ever shines tonight alter scenes, but such is not the case, for every year brings new blood, new enthusiasm, "They do tell their friends," and for real solid enjoyment where can it be duplicated? Such a clear well kept, well shaded place, and intelligent, hospitable, quiet people to cater for them.

Luther Wheeler's Belgian hares are much admired, and a litter of nine little ones are due.
Prof. Brewer's organ and piano recitals are much missed this year.
Mr. and Mrs. Louis Higginson returned from an extended winter trip in Europe and are occupying their old home, the Artemas Ward place, and are warmly welcomed.
Mrs. E. Moran, who has spent many years here, at Lakewood, N. J., with her eldest son Wallace, who was a member of the 10th Maine Regiment, and taking discharge at close of war located in the South and engaged in the turpentine business in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida, employing a large number of men. Now postmaster at Dothan, Ala. Her son Charles is at Crockett on the St. John river in Florida, in the turpentine business. Her other son Frank is at Dothan in a planning mill.

She is visiting at the old Porter home for the summer, finding the South rather warm, and was warmly welcomed by a large circle of friends here.
Waterford is the turning-point for many a riding party from Bay of Naples Inn, Bridgton, Harrison, Norway, etc., which, like choice desserts at dinner, best for the last. "ARCADE."

NORTH BUCKFIELD.

92d Birthday.
There was a family gathering at Mrs. Celia Dunham's, July 18th. It was her mother's, Mrs. Mahala Buck's birthday. She was 92 years old. Those present were Hattie Flagg, wife and daughter, Wm. Fogg, wife and child, Charles Flagg and family from South Paris, Mrs. Amanda Keene and child, Alberto Getchell and family from Auburn, John Flagg and family, one brother, Charles Buck, who lives in Virginia, was absent. $14.85 Buys a 3 piece

Oak Chamber Suit.

There would not be anything remarkable in the above statement, if the Chamber Suit was not a Remarkable One at the Price. You'd readily pay $18 or $20 for it, in fact, the latter price is what it would sell for ordinarily. We bought a lot of these Three-Piece Oak Suits with the intention of putting them out as Leaders at a Special Price. $14.85 seems to be about right, judging from the demand for them. Better come for one at our earliest convenience, no more to be had when these are gone.

BUCKFIELD.

Not a Joy Forever.
The mystery has been solved in regard to my inquiry to know why was despoiling my peace. It is that beautiful bird, the oriole, which I have watched at the window for so long in the old trees. Fred Robinson of Hotel Levee says they have cost him three or four bushels and he says he'll shoot. We were troubled some last year but not long with this.

Hotel Long is well filled with guests and comers.
A social dance at Neziascot hall, Saturday evening.

Lewis Irish is at home from Bangs Falls, being quite ill.

Homer N. Chase and family of Auburn are with Chas. Withington's family.

The Bridghams and Misses Tilden, Cohasset, before mentioned, are still at Hotel Long.

RUMFORD FALLS.

A Brilliant Reception.

Albert M. Miller, proprietor of Hotel

Rumford, and his wife, gave a reception at the hotel, Friday evening, introducing their guest, Clara Lewis of Springfield, Mass. The lower floor, including the new addition, was devoted to the guests, some fifty in number.

The reception room was tastefully decorated with cut flowers. Dancing was enjoyed in the private dining-room, including the German, led by Miss Ray Champlain of Worcester, Mass. Tables for whist were provided and refreshments were served in the large parlor.

Being a full dress affair, it was a very pretty occasion.

Ten rooms have been added to the Great View House.

Frank Nowell was given thirty days in jail for skipping a board bill.

Officer Demeritt seized sixteen pints of whiskey, last week, Thursday.

An effort is being made to have a chapter of the Eastern Star instituted here.

The Trust Company have put in new counters and a long writing desk for accommodation of patrons.

Sheriff Porter seized twenty-five gallons of liquor, Tuesday night. The parties handling the same got away.

W. J. Law, lately station agent at West Milnot has been transferred to the superintendent's office, P. & R. F. Ry.

A crayon portrait of the late Leon

Rounds, past chancellor of Metallic

Lodge, K. of P., has been hung in the lodge room.

Dr. H. C. Frankfield and Prof. N. C.

Grover of the U. S. Geological survey were in town last week arranging for a hydrographic survey of the Androscoggin valley.

Blazing Star Lodge, F. & A. M., have some of the furniture used when the lodge was instituted in 1819. Among them the gavel used by their first master, Abel Wheeler.

A drinking fountain has been put in post-office square for public use. Spring water and ice are provided by the W. U.

T. U. and prominent men of the town have furnished the material and labor.

The first bill has been issued by the Rumford Falls National Bank. It is a $10 note and is held by the cashier. Business began last Tuesday. L. E. Lane is cashier, assisted for the present by Lulu

Tuell of West Paris.

P. W. Schilida has resigned his position at the Oxford Paper Mill and is to take the superintendency of the sulphite and chemical pulp mills of the White

Mountain Paper Co. at Portsmouth, N.

H.

The new railroad station at Rangleys oulet on the R. F. & R. L. Ry. will be called Oquossoc instead of Stratglass as before reported. Trains will be regularly running to this point by Aug. 15, it is expected.

base balls instead of fire, Thursday,

July 31, and try to put the opposing men out in ten style. The rest of the department will be held in reserve to answer any alarm that may be made.

Prof. Coffey

Will remain at the Elm House,

Norway, Me., some time.

MARVELOUS

ARE HIS CURES.

THE GREAT HEALER

Who created such a furore of excitement in Lewiston, Auburn, Bath, Augusta and Bangor recently by curing hundreds of all manner of diseases thought to be incurable. Consultation free from 9 a. m. till 8 p. m.

daily.

Professor Coffey, the celebrated specialist, and famous natural healer is the same gifted man who stood on the stage of Journal Hall, Lewiston, quite recently and publicly cured hundreds of people in the presence of thousands of their astonished neighbors, causing much enthusiasm.

If you have not seen this man you must have heard of him. Every newspaper of importance in New England has published columns pertaining to this man's wonderful healing power, New

England's Greatest and Best Known

Healer.

His magic touch makes the blind to see, the deaf to hear, the crippled to walk and the sick and suffering to rejoice and call down blessings on his head.

He is without doubt the most successful and best known healer in New England today. His offices are filled with people constantly, many coming from 20 and 30 miles around. A man had his hearing restored in ten minutes.

He had been deaf for seven years.

A lady was given the use of a paralyzed hand and three days. Another lady had a large tumor removed from her throat.

It would require columns of space in this paper to publish the names and ad-resses of the many cases that have received treatment from the hands of Professor Coffey since he came to Norway two weeks ago, and it seems altogether useless, as they were all well-known citizens.

It seems as if everybody who was fortunate enough to receive treatment was entirely cured or much benefited.

Mrs. Augusta Mills came 17 miles to tell Professor Coffey that he had cured her son and herself of what was supposed to be incurable diseases of the spine and nervous system, one year ago.

Mrs. Bennett called for treatment, accompanied by her daughter, who carried her arm in a sling, suffering from inflammatory rheumatism. She could not raise her arm for the world. After the mother had received her treatment

she asked the professor to treat her daughter. In less than five minutes the young lady had the use of her arm restored to her by Prof. Coffey.

A well known lady suffering from nervous prostration for over two years, be-

EAST HEBRON.

Night Thieves.

Still the hens and chickens are taking leave in the night. B. B. Keene lost 45 chickens and 20 hens, one night last week, making a loss of 95 chickens, 20 hens. He lost 50 just before Independence. Several others have lost nearly all of their birds and meat from their barrels, even the last piece was taken.

J. E. Davis of Lynn, Mass., left his uncle, H. A. Record, where he is visiting, to pass a few days in Peru with Mr. and Mrs. John Harper, and go out fishing. He has gained finely since having an operation for appendicitis.

Six of us were favored, last week, with a trout dinner. The trout were caught and cooked by our far famed fisherman, John Freeman. His fish come to the table cooked to perfection and flavored as few if any around can compete with.

Rev. Mr. Kelly and wife have called on nearly seventy farms in his parish and still have a few more calls to make before he gets around to visit the last family. They have made many new friends since they came to make their home among the citizens of East Hebron.

Garden corn is looking finely, with spindles of eight and some of ten inches in height. Field corn is looking slimly for this season of the year, but took quite a good start, last week. Potatoes are far in advance and of unusual size. The tops cover the ground and the potatoes are much larger than at this season, last year.

BRYANT'S POND.

Alanson Bacon.

Died at El Paso, Texas, July 26, Alanson Bacon, formerly of West Paris, aged about ninety years. Mr. Bacon was the son of Benjamin Bacon of Greenwood and a brother of the late Benjamin Bacon, who died at West Paris some two years ago. When a young man, he married Almira Buck, a sister of Peter B. Buck of Norway, and settled on a farm in Greenwood, where he resided until his two sons grew up and went "railroading" out West, when he sold his farm and moved to West Paris village, but as the sons prospered they wished to have their father with them, and he again sold out and moved to Bradford, Ohio. He has since resided at the latter place and at Logansport, Ind., until five or six years ago, when his wife died and he went to El Paso, Texas, to live with his elder son, conductor O. H. Bacon, whose portrait has been published in the ADVERTISER as one of the successful Oxford county boys.

PARIS HILL.

A Pleasant Affair.

One of the pleasant affairs of the summer was the barn dance given by Mrs. H. W. Lyon for her son, Henry W. Lyon, Jr. The barn was very effectively decorated with flags, posters and evergreen. Two of the stalls arranged with pillows made very comfortable cozy corners. The veranda and lawn lighted with Japanese lanterns, were very effective among the trees. The dancing lasted until eleven and it was an evening that all will remember as very enjoyable.

Hattie Hooper of Boston is here for her summer vacation.

Adelaide and Mary Case left, Monday, for a few days in Bridgton.

Mrs. H. G. Wright and son of Salem, Mass., are guests of Mrs. B. S. Doe.

EAST WATERFORD.

A Neighboring Deer.

Otis Martin complains that his beans are being cropped by a deer. This creature is supposed to be the same one which for several seasons has hung about his pasture which is located some distance from any habitation, feeding quietly with the cow during the day, but on the approach of her master trots away to a safe distance, but pretty sure to return in the place often race through the enclosure, but they don't trouble the deer, thinking her a domestic like the cow, it is presumed. "Now," inquires Martin, "what must I do, lose my crop of beans, or is the state in duty, if not by law, bound to indemnify my loss, or am I justified in defending my property with a rifle as in case of mischievous dogs. This is a question liable to come before the courts ere long, as we hear of many similar cases in various localities throughout the state.

Mrs. Wm. A. Embury is visiting friends at Rumford Falls.

Everybody is busy haying just now. The crop is very heavy and seemed to be taking no harm during the wet weather, but under the warm sunshine it is ripening very fast. Help is scarce and no haying having been employed at good wages.

The town is filled with strangers all bent on a good ride, riding about the country and boating on the lakes. We often meet ladies on their wheels, shooting like an arrow down the steep grades, all bare headed and apparently enjoying the advent of pleasant weather.
